Cole Weston, Manager Of Sunset Center

Today, Cole Weston became an employe of the City of Carmel with the management of Sunset Center his particular responsibility. The premises which he will manage are well known to him. In 1930 he came to Carmel and was enrolled at Sunset School, now the city's municipal cultural and community center. After graduating from Sunset three years later, he attended Monterey High School before returning to live in Los Angeles in 1936.

Following graduation from high school, Cole received a scholarship to study at the Cornish School as a drama major under Alexander Korlansky, an associate of Stanislavsky. During four years at the Seattle drama school, he did extensive work in stage managing, lighting, set construction, makeup, directing and producing before returning to Los Angeles. In 1943, he entered the U. S. Navy and at the end of World War II became a photographer for Life magazine.

In 1946, Cole came to Carmel to assist his father, the late famed camera artist Edward Weston, with his photographic work. The latter was in failing health and Cole continued to assist him until his death in 1958.

During this period, Cole Weston purchased property down the coast in Garrapata Canyon and developed a trout farm business in the can-

Stanley Again Heads Carmel Innkeeprs

At the annual dinner of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Innkeepers Association Monday evening at Sans Souci restaurant, Ashton A. Stanley, managing owner of Colonial Terrace Inn, was reelected president for 1967. Anthony Vasconcellos of Horizon Inn, was re-elected vice president, and Mrs. Jinny Zack of Carmel Cottages was elected secretary-treasurer.

Norman Bollum of Ocean View Lodge and Robert Martin of Rosita Lodge were both re-elected as directors.

In taking over the reins again as president, Stanley gave particular emphasis to broadening the scope of advertising and business promotion of the association for the coming year.

The association comprises 45 Carmel hotels, motels and inns with a total capacity of 950 units accommodating 1900 visitors.

No Report On Schools Trust

No representative of the Carmel Schools Trust appeared to give a report on the status of this project to the board of education of the Carmel School District last night.

Superintendent Dr. Harris Taylor told the board he had invited, in writing, a representative to come and give some information last night on the trust which was proposed last Spring as a financial aid to the district after the failure of the override tax.

Taylor added that the trust appeared to "have problems of leadership" as Mrs. Annnette Thorn had moved away from Carmel and the trust group "may be depending on her." He also said he had talked to Harold C. Arnot about the trust and "Arnot relays information to Mrs. Thorn."

The board of education granted sabbatical leave, at half-pay, during the 1967-68 academic year to Mrs. Priscilla Nesbitt, English teacher at Middle School. She plans to study school programs and talk with educators in England. Similar leave was granted to William Mallek, principal of Tularcitos School. He will attend the University of Oregon and take courses in preparation for returning to the teaching field in the social sciences area on the high school level.

Bungalow At Sunset Offered Girl Scouts

A meeting last week between city councilmen, representatives of the Harrison Memorial Library Board, the Sunset Commission and the Girl Scouts apparently has resulted in an agreement suitable to all concerned in respect to a replacement for the Carmel Girl Scout House which was destroyed by fire in 1963.

Monday evening, Sunset commissioners forwarded information to the city council to the effect that allowing the Girl Scouts to occupy, rent free, the former kin-

School Board To Act On Override Tax December 14

The educational program of the Carmel Unified School District will drop drastically next year—even more so the following year—unless taxpayers are willing to pass an override tax, Dr. Harris Taylor, new superintendent of the district, told the board of education last night.

He said, next year, it will take $379,000 just to put deteriorated school facilities "in a condition we can maintain." If left in their present state, the following year further deterioration would run costs up to $479,000—after that higher yet. He particularly cited sinking blacktop. "We have had two accidents—people tripping and falling because of pitted blacktop — this condition is a safety hazard," he added.

"I wish the public would take a tour of this school (Carmel High) and see the shredded doors and chipped paint. It is false economy to allow capital goods to deteriorate for several years.

"All in all, I can't see the board has much of an option," he declared in respect to asking for an override tax election.

"We can't delay action," said Trustee Steven Sassoon and other members of the board agreed by setting December 14 as the date for more detailed discussion of the financial needs of the district and a decision on when an override election shall be held.

Jean-Louis Trintignant is starred with Anouk Aimee and Pierre Barouh in the 1966 Cannes Film Festival grand prize winner, "A Man and A Woman." The film was produced in Eastmancolor by Claude Lelouch, who also wrote and directed it.

This film is now showing at Carmel's Village Theatre.

Carmel Valley Golf Club Appointment

Edgar H. Haber, president and chairman of the board of directors of Green Meadows, Inc., parent company of the private Carmel Valley Golf Club and real estate development, announces the appointment of James L. May as executive vice president of the corporation. Mr. May will continue in charge of construction and development. This change in the administrative organization of the corporation occurs concurrently with the departure of club manager, John Paul Jones, for Silverado County Club. His duties at the Carmel Valley club will be absorbed by the existing staff.

President Haber reports that the golf club operated at a profit for the fiscal year just ended, and that 50% of the fairway homesites have been sold to date, totalling $1,300,000.

Assets of the corporation now total over $3,000,000. Not included in this figure is a joint venture $1,000,000 apartment project nearing completion on the 5th hole of the Country Club. During the past year zoning was obtained for the construction of a $2,500,000 resort hotel to be built at the entrance to the golf course. This project is scheduled for completion in 1967. It is intended that the resort will be a showplace of the Monterey Peninsula, with reservation priority to be given primarily to the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club's membership, with particular emphasis on non-resident membership, which at this time has only 10 vacancies. Upon completion of the resort hotel, priority for playing the course will go first to members and second to hotel guests.

LINES FROM THE STUDIO

How the year has flown—it can't be December already! To judge from the tremendous enthusiasm of our Thanksgiving weekend crowds, anyone who has missed "The Little Foxes" ought to take advantage of the two weekends that remain to see it. Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through December 11 at only $5.50 for the dinner and show package or $2.75 for the show alone. Meanwhile "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" promises to be the laugh riot of many a season when it opens December 16. As its very first musical number proclaims, it's "Comedy Tonight." When you come to see "The Little Foxes" this weekend or next, ask one of us to tell you the special holiday schedule planned for "A Funny Thing."

NATIONAL HIGHLIGHTS

Jacky Cupit won the Cajun Classic golf tournament by defeating Chi Chi Rodriguez in a sudden death playoff. The Cajun Classic is the final stop for the PGA players this year.

FOURTH MPC FILM FRIDAY NIGHT

"Nobody Waved Goodbye," a 1964 National Film Board of Canada film "made by young people about young people," will be screened tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall.

The film, describing a teen-ager's revolt against the standards of his middle class society, is fourth in MPC's fall film series, "An Approach to Modern Tragedy."

Tickets, priced at 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for MPC student body card holders, will be available at the music hall door.

NEW OWNERS OF BOOK SHOP

The Friar Tuck Book Shop will open tomorrow under the new ownership and management of Janet Powell and Ann Kessinger. Well known for its stock of popular paperbacks, the shop now also will offer fine books on art, architecture, archaeology, nature, sports, surfing, sailing, fishing, photography, travel and exploration, as well as a selected stock of recent bestsellers.

The book shop is located in the May Court, Mission near Sixth (across from the Purity Market).

ART BUCHWALD SPEAKS AT MPC TUESDAY

Art Buchwald, who calls himself a "Son of the Great Society" and published a book with that title this year, will speak at Monterey Peninsula College on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Armory.

The humorous columnist, who has been heard on records, on television, and by lecture audiences all over the nation, will be the fourth notable to appear in MPC's fall evening lecture series. He was preceded by LSD expert Dr. Sidney Cohen and novelists Valery Tarsis and Gore Vidal.

RETIRED TEACHERS CHRISTMAS MEETING

Retired teachers and their guests are invited to attend the Christmas luncheon meeting of the Monterey division of California Retired Teachers' Association on December 14, 12:15 p.m., at the Veterans' Memorial Building in Spreckels. Dr. Vahe Aslanian will conduct the student Madrigal Singers of Hartnell College in a special program of music preceding the luncheon.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. James Walker, Salinas (424-6566) by December 10.

Members are reminded that the USO will appreciate cookies for the servicemen's cookie jar—these may be brought to the meeting.

The Christmas berry, also known as California holly or toyon, is a member of the rose family.

JOHN BROWNING CONCERT

The appearance of John Browning, internationally acclaimed pianist, under the auspices of the Carmel Music Society on Saturday evening is of special interest to the many Carmel residents who knew the brilliant young artist when he was fulfilling his U. S. Army obligation at Fort Ord and became a popular member of local musical circles. Since that time he has played the world premiere of Samuel Barber's First Piano Concerto with the Boston Symphony during the gala opening of New York's Lincoln Center in 1962 and been featured soloist with the leading symphonies of this continent. Last year he made an 11-week tour of the Soviet Union and Western Europe with the Cleveland Orchestra under the direction of George Szell. He made his debut with the New York Philharmonic in 1956 after winning the Edgar M. Leventritt Award. The same year he won the gold medal of the Concours International Musicale, founded by Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, who invited John Browning to visit her at her Brussels palace. His Carmel concert will be at 8:30 p.m. in Sunset Center auditorium.

All tickets to the Browning concert have been sold. If persons have tickets and are unable to use them, the Carmel Music Society would be pleased if the tickets were released for use by those who have unsuccessfully requested tickets. This can be arranged by telephoning 624-2065 prior to Saturday and 624-9892 on Saturday night.

MPC PLAYERS PRESENT GORKY PLAY

"The Lower Depths," Maxim Gorky's famed second play, will be staged by Morgan Stock and his Monterey Peninsula College Players tomorrow and Saturday, also December 7 through 10, in the MPC Little Theater at 8:30 p.m.

The center of gravity of "The Lower Depths" lies in character and environment portrayal. All the inmates of the Russian flophouse, in which the action takes place, are victims of social conditions. Each individual fails to cope with life, yet all of them dream of freedom and regeneration.

Tickets, priced at $1 for adults, 50 cents for students, will be sold at the theater door.

Flea Train Cairo To Luxor!

by Arthur Porter

My British and American friends in Cairo threw up their hands in mock horror when I told them I was going to Luxor on the "Antiquities Express." "No!" they said almost unanimously, "Not the Flea Train!"

I had been very busy establishing a branch there for the American Insurance Company I worked for, and was itching to get to the Valley of the Kings of which I had read so much, also I had recently seen the treasures taken from Tutankhamen's tomb in the Cairo Museum.

So, checking with Thomas Cook and the American Express, I found that their Nile cruises were altogether too lush and too elegant and, consequently, too expensive for me. Telling my troubles to an Italian employee in the office, he immediately came up with the "Antiquities Express" idea which was extremely cheap. This method of getting to Luxor was what had astonished my friends who added "Why, it's really only run for Egyptians and Arabs during Ramadan." Ramadan being the Mohammedan religious festival, if it can be so called, when all Mohammedans rigidly observe a 30-day fast during the hours of daylight. But it all sounded much more interesting and more fun than lolling around on a Nile steamer with my peers! That being, in my opinion, not much better than sitting for hours on the terrace at Shepheard's watching the world go by.

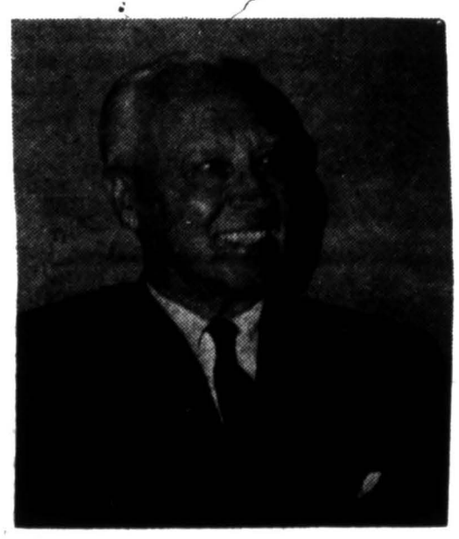
The Express left Cairo in the late evening. When I arrived about 11 o'clock, the three other bunks, beside my numbered one, were already occupied by large bundles of humanity more or less completely shrouded. Dawn brought a general stirring around and I suddenly seemed to be a movie extra in "Lawrence of Arabia" or something similar. My fellow voyagers were magnificent! Decked out in elaborate flowing finery complete with gold corded headdresses, they all looked like wealthy desert sheiks to me, but more likely just good Mohammedan merchants in holiday attire.

In the dining car at breakfast, I met an English family who had been living in Iran associated with one of the oil companies there, and who also preferred the more unorthodox form of travel. We became good friends during the entire trip, which was another added pleasure.

At Luxor we were given the alternative of spending the night in a hotel facing the Nile or again sleeping on the train. I chose the hotel and did my dreaming in comfort, knowing nothing until an Egyptian "bellhop" in a long white gown with a red fez woke me with the inevitable morning cup of tea. First we went to Karnak which was quite nearby. How can one express the effect of seeing this place for the first time? Built over 2,000 years ago, its forest of lotus columns, the huge doorways and solitary gateways, the gigantic walls and fragments of magnificent architecture among the fallen blocks of masonry, and the obelisks, all are still a triumph in carved stone though now "ruined."

Then by car past the Colossi of Memnon at Thebes on to the Valley of the Kings and the tomb of King Tutankhamen with its frescoes of hamadryad apes. What a tremendous sense of great antiquity, the evanescence of great culture and civilization, so that one feels in agreement with the Preacher "All is vanity. . . ."

On my return to Cairo, my friends could hardly believe that I had "done" Luxor on five pounds instead of 50 and that I had had a really marvellous time—but I did!



Arthur Porter

A much traveled Carmelite, Arthur Porter, is in charge of The Pine Cone's Travel Section. Another account of one of his trips—Flea Train Cairo To Luxor!—is printed on this page. Readers are asked to send in questions for the Travel Tips column, which he will arrange to have answered by Peninsula travel agents.

'PARIS AND THE FRENCH'

The Eiffel Tower soars into the sky above the city which will be featured tomorrow evening in the last Explorerama-Carmel film, "Paris and the French." Eric Pavel, who photographed the color sequences for the hour and a half prize winning film, will be the narrator and tell about the pictured art treasures of the Louvre, Versailles Palace, Rue Rivoli, a ride on a Seine River boat, Montmartre and the Ecole des Beaux Arts, also other places that even many French people do not know. Announced during the evening will be the plans for next year's film series sponsored by the Explorers Club of San Francisco as a means of raising funds to provide scholarships for students in the United States. Tickets ($1.75) may be obtained at the Sunset Center box office prior to the showing at 8:15 p.m. or at Central Box Office.

TRAVEL TIPS

QUESTION: What "package tours" are available to Canada during the 1967 celebration of the Centenary of Confederation?

ANSWER: (By BOB McGINNIS TRAVEL) The major tour companies—American Express and Thomas Cook—have not, as yet, published their all-inclusive tours to the exposition in Montreal. These, together with those of the Canadian Rail and Air carriers, are expected shortly to be on the desks of local travel agents.

Every year, 100,000 cubic miles of water is evaporated from the earth's surface.

Marjory Wheeler

Private services for Marjory Wheeler, 74, a well known resident of Carmel for the past 21 years, have been held in the Mission Mortuary and will be followed by inurnment in Woodlawn Cemetery of Quincy, Illinois, the city of her birth. Miss Wheeler died Monday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

A 1915 graduate of Wellesley College, Massachusetts, she was associated for a number of years with Doremus Advertising Company in Boston. In Carmel, where she made her home with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Wheeler, at Vizcaino and Flanders Way, Miss Wheeler was long employed with the Shand Realty Company and the Heritage Antique Shop.

During most of her residence here, she was active in the Monterey Peninsula Friends meeting.

In addition to her mother, she leaves a niece, Mrs. Ann Andrews of Philadelphia, and numerous cousins.

It is suggested that friends wishing to make memorial gifts might contribute to the American Friends Service Committee.

CARMEL'S FINEST HOME

A beautifully unspoiled wooded area surrounds this architectural masterpiece, situated a short walk to center of Carmel. No expense was spared to make this versatile and exciting home the best that money can provide. 3 tile baths, at least 2 bedrooms, 2 fireplaces, waterfalls, redwood inlays, rich handrubbed woods, mosaics, mirrors and copper. Warm and rich like no other contemporary. Complete with all appliances, carpet and draperies. No maintenance. Perfect for just 2 people or a family. Costing far more to build 3 years ago than the price of $79,000. Owner 624-9357.

SADIE HAWKINS

Boots to bare feet, triumphant Dogpatch dollies lined up with their catches before Marryin' Sam (Coach Monte Feekes) at the annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance held by Carmel High School students in the school gym on November 18. As usual, the popular event drew a large crowd of costumed revelers.

Newlywed Couple Visited

A cottage with a fireplace awaited Mr. and Mrs. William Bernard Scollan III, the former Patricia Ann Heron, when they arrived in Carmel following their marriage Friday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Clarksburg. A supply of their favorite goodies was on hand through the courtesy of the bride's grandfather, former Carmel Mayor Bert Heron.

During their brief honeymoon, the Scollans enjoyed visiting with Pat's family's friends, among them Judge and Mrs. Gordon Campbell. Mrs. Campbell and her daughter, Polly, also her sister, Miss Marjorie Dale, attended the couple's wedding.

The new Mrs. Scollan is the daughter of F. S. (Bill) Heron, whose childhood and youth were spent here, and Mrs. Heron of Sacramento. A graduate of Sacramento City College and San Francisco State College, she is an elementary school teacher in Sacramento. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society and belonged also to Manana and Tioga Ski Club.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bernard Scollan Jr. of Sacramento. He attended the University of Oregon and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and Sacramento City College. A member, too, of Alpha Gamma Sigma and Tioga Ski Club, Mr. Scollan is engaged in graduate studies at the California State College in Sacramento, where the newlyweds are now at home.

Tennis Again

During their years at Carmel High School, three girls played tennis almost daily at the Beach Club. This past weekend, they were reunited on the courts. The players were Cynthia "Biz" Carr Perkins from Manhattan Beach, Edelen Cory Stevens, who this fall settled in Menlo Park after living in Mexico City for nine years, and Jennefer Lloyd Baylis of Menlo Park. All of them came to Carmel to spend Thanksgiving with their parents who are, respectively, Mrs. Virginia Carr, Mrs. B. H. Cory, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd. The fourth in the doubles games was Mardi Lloyd Morse of San Luis Obispo who, during the older girls' high school days was too small to be included in their tennis games.

With Edelen came her two sons, Bruce and Jimmie. Biz was accompanied to Carmel by her son, Sabin, and Jennefer had her sons, Owen and Lloyd, with her, also her husband, Nathaniel Baylis. The boys had a reunion, too, part of which included exploring Point Lobos. Mardi's husband, S.F.B. Morse III, spent Thanksgiving in Texas. He was one of five students chosen by the architectural department of California State Polytechnic College to participate in an exchange program with Texas A. & M. College last month.

A Saturday Wedding

Susan Oliver Bartlett and Warren Johnston of Carmel were married Saturday at the Church of Religious Science in Monterey. Dr. Carleton Whitehead performed the four o'clock afternoon ceremony before family members and a few close friends.

Former Carmelite John Elizalde, who came with his family from Pacific Palisades to stay with his mother Mrs. Marie Elizalde, played the wedding march and later served as best man for his longtime friend.

Television actress Kathryn Ross of Los Angeles was her sister's matron of honor.

The glow of pink candles and silver mingled with the fragrance of flowers for the reception at the Rancho Rio Vista residence of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Markham (Gladys) Johnston.

Among the bride's family attending the Saturday event were her mother, Mrs. William I. Strietman of Alameda, also her two young sons, Edwin Robert and Kenneth Lloyd Bartlett.

Warren's brother, Markham Johnston, and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Newman, were present, as were his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Varnell Price of Hollister and Barbara Bryant of Honolulu. Michael Newman was home from UC Santa Barbara and Christina Johnston from UC Berkeley to join their families for their uncle's wedding.

Susan attended the University of California at Berkeley. Her husband, whose father was the late Markham Johnston and whose mother's family was among Carmel pioneers, is a graduate of Carmel High School and the University of California. During World War II he was a captain in the U. S. Air Force.

After a wedding trip to Yosemite, the newlywed couple is at home in Carmel.

The Tony Whites Are Parents

Of interest to their friends and their families' friends is the news that Tony and Suzie White became first-time parents on October 17, when their daughter, Alexis Marguerite, arrived at Stanford Hospital in Palo Alto.

When Tony's studies at Stanford's graduate school of business permit, the Whites come from Woodside to occupy their Carmel house and visit his mother, Mrs. Richard McIntyre White. Alexis is the granddaughter, also, of Mrs. Norton Adams of New York and the late Dr. Charles Crocker of Pebble Beach. Her uncles are Phil White, who was home from Stanford graduate school to spend Thanksgiving with his mother, Richard White of Madrid, Spain, and Charles Crocker of Pebble Beach and San Francisco.

CHRISTMAS CREATIONS SHOW

The sixth annual Christmas Creations Show of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art will be held on December 7 in the Mark Thomas Inn. Hours will be 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Door prizes will include a one-week round trip to Hawaii via United Airlines with accomodations at Kona Plantation on the Island of Hawaii; a lady's diamond wrist watch; a sculpture; and three days at Elizabeth Arden's salon in San Francisco. Tickets for the preview of the exhibition of Christmas decorations, the number of which is limited by fire regulations, may be obtained as long as they last, at the museum's headquarters on Lincoln Street.

Paula Gelert Wed At Pomona

A Carmel honeymoon over the Thanksgiving holiday followed the marriage on November 23 of Paula Schneeberger Gelert and Norman Sites of Elkins, West Virginia. The couple's wedding took place in the Unitarian Church at Pomona, where the bride has been a soloist for the past several years, and was followed by a reception at the church.

Mrs. Mary Louise Schneeberger traveled to Southern California to attend the wedding of her daughter, whose father was the late Colonel Philip Schneeberger (USAF ret) of Carmel. Accompanying Mrs. Schneeberger was Paula's grandmother, Mrs. William Love of Carmel. Also present were the new Mrs. Sites' three children, Lars, John and Cynthia Gelert, and her cousin, Sherill Love of Honolulu and Newport Beach.

James Sites flew out from Detroit, Michigan, to serve as his brother's best man.

The bridegroom is employed with the accounting department of North American Aviation at Downey.

The Sites are now at home at 482 Laurinda Lane, Orange, Orange County.

Newlyweds Welcomed Home

Landing at Monterey Airport Tuesday evening, after a ten-day Hawaiian honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Buchanan Rodda were greeted by friends and members of both their families with a rousing welcome-home party. Doug, the son of Dr. and Mrs. James M. Rodda of Carmel, and the former Susan Ann Whitaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Whitaker of Monterey, were married at All Saints' Episcopal Church on November 17. The afternoon ceremony was performed by the Reverend David Hill.

Mrs. Richard Smith of Monterey was the bride's matron of honor, and Gaylon McAllister of Pacific Grove served as best man.

A reception for the young couple was held at the Monterey residence of Dr. and Mrs. David Thorngate.

Susan graduated from Monterey High School and is now attending Monterey Peninsula College, as is her husband. She is the sister of Diana, Jill and Donald Whitaker of Monterey, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Wihtaker of Monterey.

A graduate of The York School, the bridegroom is an active member in Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club competition. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seaton of San Francisco, who attended the wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. S. Rodda of Portland, Oregon.

While continuing their studies at Monterey Peninsula College, the newlywed couple will reside in Del Rey Oaks.

Anne Fry Was Here

The great bird was carved up for three generations of Ruthie McElroy's family, plus assorted valued friends, on Thanksgiving. Here from Southern California for the long holiday was Mrs. Anne McElroy Fry, who was accompanied by two of her daughters, Roberta and Noelle. Another daughter, Ruth, is a more or less permanent fixture in her grandmother's home, while the fourth Fry daughter, Lucinda, is enrolled at college in the Midwest.

The best Christmas gift we can think of for Ruthie is the convergence Chez McElroy of her other offspring, twins George and Mary (Mrs. Howard Williams).

RECEIVES PROMOTION

Lieutenant Colonel James H. Phillips Jr. received his "silver leaves" during a recent promotion ceremony held in the office of Major General Welborn Dolvin, Project Manager for the Main Battle Tank, U. S. Army Material Command, Washington, D. C. General Dolvin pinned on the promotional insignia with the assistance of Mrs. Phillips.

Colonel Phillips is Chief, Review and Analysis Branch, Office Project Manager for the U.S./Federal Republic of Germany Main Battle Tank. The Main Battle Tank planned for production in the 1970's is being developed jointly by the U. S. and West Germany in the first two-nation collaboration on a major military weapon in history. He is the son of Major General and Mrs. J. H. Phillips of Carmel.

Bay Area Junket

The Icecapades in San Francisco were among the extra Thanksgiving treats for Deborah and Jeremy Street, who were in the San Francisco Bay area to spend the holiday with the families of their four cousins in Concord. Debbie and Jerry's official hostess was their aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Dealey, who often visits their father, Webster "Toby" Street, and Mrs. Street at their South Carmel Hills home.

Alliance Honors President

After a year's outstanding service as president of l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula, Henri Corbat is retiring because of the demands of his business. In honor of Mr. Corbat and his wife, the board of directors sponsored a delightful dinner last evening at the Sans Souci Restaurant.

Appointed as co-presidents of the growing organization for the current year are a former president, Mrs. Jehanne Bietry-Salinger Carlson, and Mrs. James L. Hathaway.

The executive committee includes the newly appointed secretary, Mrs. Russell H. Cadle; Mrs. Henri Corbat, who will succeed Mrs. Germaine Olivie as treasurer in January; Mrs. Phyllis Jervey, publicity chairman. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard Weiss, Mr. Corbat, Mrs. David C. Pitfield, retiring secretary, Mrs. Pillsbury Pringle, Mrs. John Dowdakin, Mrs. Claude Courteol and Mrs. George Podbereski.

The scholarship committee is headed by Mrs. Gaspard Weiss. Mrs. Leonard Klene and Mrs. Pringle are co-chairmen of the tea-French conversation committee. Membership and welcoming committee is headed by Mrs. Cadle and Mrs. Olivie; hospitality and special evenis, Mrs. Dowdakin and Mrs. Elie Jean-Louis Barbaro, who will be assisted by Clementine Herlax, Ginger Laky, Mrs. Sorin Issvoran, Mrs. Stanislas Lasoska and Mrs. Jervey. Mrs. Pitfield is editor of the forthcoming "Alliance Book of Cookery," which will be sold for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

Wayfarer Choir Honored

On November 19, the choir of the Church of the Wayfarer was honored at a dinner held at the Naval Postgraduate School. Members of the congregation attended and heard the Reverend Alexander C. Bryans, pastor of the church, pay tribute to the singers. The evening's program was arranged by Dr. Fred L. Farley, with Herbert L. Myers serving as host.

An original musical skit pertaining to the choir was presented by Dr. Farley and Mrs. Henry Venn, with Mrs. Ray Esplen as accompanist. Guests also enjoyed a piano duet by Mrs. Connell K. Carruth and Mrs. Herbert Myers; a quintet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight A. Wagner, Mrs. Albert B. Weisbrod, Mrs. Walter Patapoff and Mr. Myers; and piano selections by Eldon Harris, choir director.

DLI Graduation Ceremonies

Approximately 13 officers and 202 enlisted men representing the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps, along with five Federal Government employees, and four dependent wives were graduated at the Defense Language November 22.

Jack Westland, former U. S. Congressman of Washington, was guest speaker at the ceremonies at the Presidio of Monterey. Now a resident of Pebble Beach, Mr. Westland is a Navy veteran of World War II who ended his career with the rank of commander. In addition to his distinguished service, he won the National Amateur Golf Championship at the age of 47.

Bay Area Sojurn

Carmel Planning Commissioner George Willox and his wife, Loli, spent a delightful few days in the San Francisco Bay recently, managing a visit with Mrs. Dwight (Gretchen) Gray in Mill Valley. They report that Gretchen, who made many friends during the years she lived in Carmel, is again active in psychiatric social work after a long convalescence from a broken hip.

Hans Huth, a former director of the Chicago Art Museum, and Mrs. Huth of Carmel joined the Willoxes to view the "Age of Rembrandt" exhibit at the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

Nite Caps Converged Here

Nite Caps from near and far packed the La Playa Hotel banquet room November 20 to share Thanksgiving fare, be entertained, and to hear and meet Herb Jepko, originator of KSL's Nitecap program and guiding spirit of the Nitecap International Association.

Mr. Jepko's enthusiastic welcome by his audience was understandable. He seems an extraordinary man, his compassion as sincere as it is intense. "Service," he said, "is first—sociability, while important, is down the list. To convince people of their individual worth, "Extend a hand of friendship," let them know you care, even if it is only a matter of saying "hello." No beaming Pollyanna, Mr. Jepko warned the Nite Caps to "cherish what you have NOW."

Ron Jones, staff member of the organization's monthly magazine, "The Wick," served as master of ceremonies. Frankie "The Crusher" Nolan, a member of the radio show, took a bow, as did Ken Shirk, vice president of the Cypress Nite Stand of the Monterey Peninsula. The chapter's president, Marian Fischer, was official hostess. Other honored guests were Andre and Roger Hope, Richard Penoyer and Mayor Stephen Grant, who received an honorary membership pin after his brief speech. Mrs. Fischer also expressed thanks to La Playa Manager Loren Johnson for his generous assistance.

Charlie Brown and His Peanuts added variety to the successful banquet with their musical combo.

Dudley Swim—

American Farmer All That Has Stood Between Communists And Starvation

"That rank individualist—the extreme right winger—the American farmer, along with the Canadian farmer, is all that has stood between the Communist people of the world and starvation" declared Dudley Swim, in a talk on "Modern Miracles" before the Carmel Rotary Club last week. His talk treated primarily with the modern miracles of communication, transportation and American agriculture and the impact of these three miracles on tomorrow's world that is now a-building.

"By contrast with our spectacular achievements in engineering, science, agriculture, and medicine," declared Mr. Swim, "we have the miserable spectacle of failure after failure in the areas of government. Unfortunately, politics seem to bring out the worst in man, rather than the best.

"For more than 30 years, Washington has been bungling the problem of coping with the curse of Communism," he continued. "Communism with its barbaric socialist brutalities should not only be contained but discredited and humanity freed from its fraudulent chains.

WAR IN VIET NAM

"But the way to do it is not to wage for five or six years, as we have done, the most mismanaged war in military history. American boys are being sacrificed on the altar of this mismanagement by the thousands—and for naught.

"What has been accomplished in more than five years of American military involvement in Viet Nam? What can be accomplished in the next five years of throwing American boys into a human meat grinder, if the war is to be continued on the same futile basis as in the past? The enemy is just as close to Saigon as five years ago.

"Our boys are being asked to die but not allowed to win. It is a carryover of the no-win policy of Korea—only this is worse.

"We are committing the horrible mistake of engaging in a land war with Asians in Asia. As the world's leading air and naval power, why should we ask our boys to slug it out in the jungles where they are at such tragic disadvantage? Why are our mighty bomber fleets being confined to such piddling assignments as bombing foot bridges and mountain trails, instead of using our modern air power to destroy the enemy's capability at its base, that is through the destruction of irrigation dams, electric generating facilities, major industrial plants, and port facilities. If this were coupled with the use of our sea power to blockade the enemy's ports, would it be a matter of years or weeks before the enemy would capitulate to such hammer blows? Instead we have continued to pour in young, unseasoned troops fresh from civilian life to fight and die in the jungles —and for what?

"Castro continues to operate his Communist base 90 miles off our shore. Four years ago, when election prospects looked badly for the incumbents, a grandstand play was made against Castro. It was called a confrontation. But it was just a gigantic hoax on the American people, in keeping with the betrayal of the freedom fighters at the Bay of Pigs."

THE UNITED NATIONS

"Today's and tomorrow's miracles in communication, transportation, and agriculture—to say nothing of the miracle of American medicine which has been well recognized—are bringing this world together at a rapid pace. This is in contrast to the bungling of the United Nations on the political front into the internal affairs of Africa—even to the extent of intervening with armed forces; yet remaining aloof in the open and external aggression by mankind's enemy — the Communists — in Southeast Asia. Not only has the United Nations remained aloof, but its top authorities appear to be condoning the blatant aggression from North Viet Nam. The United Nations might be better continued as an administrative agency only where it can perform a valuable function as a world clearing house outside of political meddling.

SOCIALISM

"Obviously, the majority of the people involved in the United Nations are to one degree or another addicts of socialism—a mental narcotic. Socialism's appeal lies in its offer of the legalized right to steal.

"Otherwise, self-respecting persons will in the name of socialism appropriate to their own use the

Now you can get the best buy we've offered in 31 years.

Starting immediately, how would you like a guaranteed yearly income for life of 9% of the price you pay for an annuity?

That's just about what an Equitable Immediate Life Annuity can give a man in his middle sixties, (not quite as much for a woman because women live longer).

This 9%* is derived from both principal and interest. But you don't have to worry about outliving your principal. Equitable guarantees your annuity income for as long as you live. Even if you live to 100 or more, your annuity checks will keep coming in.

No other type of investment can provide such a guarantee. What's more, nothing can ever reduce the income that's written into your Equitable annuity contract—which, today, gives you the most advantageous buy we've been able to offer at retirement in 31 years.

At your age, what's the lifetime income you can get? (The older you are, the higher the yearly income—about 13%* for a man of 75.) Send in the coupon below and we'll give you all the answers.

CARMEL FOUNDATION

Town House

Fashions for Christmas will be modelled by members of the Carmel Foundation at Town House on Wednesday at 3 p.m. Mrs. Pernie McMahon will serve as commentator and Mrs. Ray Esplen will provide musical accompaniment.

Everyone is invited to the event, which will be followed by refreshments.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

Sabine O'Flaherty, chief custodian of the Manor library, writes in this issue of Carmel Valley Echoes—"Our readers are extremely conscientious in their care of borrowed books. None are returned with pencilled margins, underlined text or odd bits of flotsam such as bacon strips for place markers (habits often found in public library patrons). Only one book is known to have been completely devoured by a dog, not a resident's pet, of course, there being none."

FOREST HILL MANOR

Miss Emma Kinne of Forest Hill Manor, a retired librarian, sends us word of their library. She writes: Forest Hill Manor boasts a well-selected library, shelved in two attractive bright rooms, as one of its special advantages. It has been said, "Libraries are not made, they grow" and so with the one at the Manor. When early residents arrived, they soon realized that they lacked space in their rooms for some of their best loved books. Rather than ruthlessly discarding them, it seemed more logical to add them to the constantly growing collection which has shaped into the present library of over 2,000 volumes. Almost without exception they are the gifts of members and friends. They cover, to a limited extent, almost every field of knowledge, with some well chosen needed reference tools and a globe, fairly recent. In addition, there is a sizeable supplemental collection of paperbacks.

The library was organized and catalogued by Miss Edna Browning, a Manor member, who was a librarian for nine years. Then Mrs. Kathleen Larson shared the responsibility for some time. At present two other competent members carry on to the members' satisfaction and benefit. They are Mrs. Evangeline Mott and Mrs. Emma Luther. No seeker after knowledge need be at a loss with the resources of this excellent library.

CANTERBURY WOODS

The Medical Auxiliary has become a reality and members are giving valuable assistance to Mrs. Lesley Robertson in the Medical Center, writes Mrs. Arde Rochex, editor of Canterbury Tales, the retirement community's monthly bulletin. She continues, "They have volunteered to assist from 9-12 a.m. and 2-4 p.m., taking care of flowers, reading, shopping, telephoning and doing errands. As additional needs arise, they will be ready for the volunteer service.

The group known as Busy Fingers is busy dressing dolls for Toys For Tots, the local project for needy children at Christmas. Dolls have been supplied by Captain Van Cleve of the Salvation Army who requested they be completed by tomorrow.

HACIENDA CARMEL

Those viewing the Hacienda Carmel Crafts Show on November 16 were amazed at the scope and extent of the talents represented. Among the "live" exhibits were a number of bonzai specimens. Woodworking exhibits ranged from a clock fashioned from mahogany railway ties to lamp bases turned from "ironwood." Crocheting, sewing, knitting were exhibited as was mosaic and enamel jewelry.

Many of the exhibitors have followed their hobbies for years as a means of relaxation, while others have undertaken such activities after retirement. Mrs. Reuel Sutton and Watson Luke were co-chairmen of the Crafts Show.

Hal Wright, publicity chairman for the recreational activities committee, reports that Harry C. McAuley, assistant state forest ranger, was the speaker at the November meeting of the Casa Lobos Luncheon Club, a group activity enjoyed by most of the men at Hacienda Carmel. The state's interest in forests, fire, water, logging and conservation were discussed by Mr. McAuley.

Kathryn Edwards, chairman of the Arts Committee, announces an exhibit in Casa Fiesta of paintings by Emily Bleecker, Blossom Breuner, Emily Graves, Dorothy Luke and Greta Rockey. This the first in a series of shows providing for exhibition of paintings by all active artists resident at Hacienda Carmel.

PINPOINT PROFILE

Mrs. James Pope

Mrs. James Pope, a resident of Canterbury Woods, was the lady I chose to interview this week.

No one, except a true Scot, can handle rrrrr's so beautifully. My, how they rumbled and rolled as she talked! Can't you just hearrrrr them? Born in Scotland in 1884, Elizabeth Pope is still hale and hearty—and active!

The way she and her husband found Carmel is interesting. It seems they had come to San Francisco to visit one of their sons. While there he proposed a trip to Carmel. "Well!" says Elizabeth, "we all fell in love with the village, and my husband said, 'This is the place I want to come to retire.'"

Upon reaching retirement age several years later, the James Popes sold out in Ohio and did move to Carmel where they made their home until coming to Canterbury Woods in 1964.

But, I am getting ahead of my story. Elizabeth talked affectionately of the "old days" back in Ohio. Mr. Pope had worked diligently and had been promoted to a good job with the East Ohio Gas Co. When friends back home in Scotland heard of the advantages and opportunities in this fabulous land, they, too, wanted to come over and try their luck.

Mrs. Pope says with a smile, "Ours was what everyone called the Half-Way House because all of our friends would come over and stay with us until they could secure a place to work. Then they would move into other quarters."

Elizabeth remembers an incident that happened shortly after she had come over from Scotland. She recalls seeing a woman using a floor mop to scrub the floor. To her this was almost incomprehensible! At home you got down on your knees and hand-scrubbed the floors. "I just couldn't see how they could do a good job," says she, "this was a lazy way of doing a floor." Then she smiled, "However, before too long I was using the new-fangled mop myself."

She told us of a visit to Ireland —riding in a real jaunting cart— and buying huge strawberries from the girls along the roads. The berries were handed to one on a large cabbage leaf because they did not have paper bags to put them in as we have today.

Many gypsies roamed the country lanes. You had to tie everything down or things would mysteriously disappear when they were around.

Elizabeth Pope's apartment is resplendent with bright colored tea plates, cups and saucers nicely arranged in her china cabinet. China collecting is her hobby. Another hobby of hers, we learned, is making beautiful lace for pillow cases and she has finished pillow cases for all of her 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Since losing her husband two years ago, she has devoted herself to working in the Medical Center. It is not easy to part with someone you love, especially when you have been married 62 years, as the Popes were.

Elizabeth now works daily with the patients in the Medical Center at Canterbury Woods trying to bring cheer and comfort to these people who are unable to get around and do things for themselves. Her motto I found extremely interesting, it is:

"There is a destiny that makes us brothers,
No one goes his way alone,
What we put into the lives of others,
Comes back into our own."

The world's largest known spider is the Theraphosa blondi from the Guianas, South America. It has a body length of 3½ inches and a leg span of ten inches.

ALL-LEAGUE PLAYERS

Two Carmel High School varsity football players were named last week to the 1966 all-league team of the Mission Trails Athletic Association. They are Doug Adams, Carmel's six foot three inch, 215 pound linebacker, who is a senior, and Bob Littlefield, five foot nine inch, 190 pound end, who also is in his senior year. Both were placed on the all-league defensive squad.

MPC GARDEN SERIES

Mrs. Molly Sumida, longtime proprietor, with her husband Yukio, of the Cypress Garden Nursery in Monterey, will open Monterey Peninsula College's winter home gardener series with a lecture on "Flowering and Potted Plants, Including Care of Gift Plants."

She will speak tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the MPC library lecture hall. Series tickets are $3.

CVYO DANCE

The Carmel Valley Youth Organization (CVYO) is having an open membership dance tomorrow night from 8-11 p.m. in the Carmel Valley Community Center. The band will be the "Yellow Line Express." Members will be admitted for 75 cents, guests, $1.25.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

'CONTINENTAL TABLE TRAVELING'

To complement our newly started Travel Section, PARTY PLANS will turn occasionally to describing foreign foods. What better source to commence with than the Defense Language Institute which has just celebrated its 25th anniversary.

What is fascinating is how some of the language departments at DLI were pioneered. To begin alphabetically, the Albanian language department was organized by Carmel author and painter, Nelo Drizari. Because of his Albanian background and service with the Voice of America and the Armed Forces Linguistic Section during World War II, the U. S. Defense Department tabbed him to head the Albanian language teaching facilities at the Presidio of Monterey.

At the time, Mr. Drizari was a lecturer at Columbia University from which he was granted leave. Arriving at night at the Presidio he was assigned a room in the BOQ at the top of the post. Early the next morning he was thrilled by the sight of Monterey Bay. "This is God's country," he hurriedly telephoned a friend back East. "If I ever retire, this would be it!"

Far from being retired now, Nelo, always a journalist by profession and an artist by avocation, has written six published books and has two biographies scheduled for publication next year! To wit, he is in the new edition of "Who's Who in the West."

But most important for PARTY PLANS is that Nelo delves into cooking dishes he remembers as a child and which his hospitable family enjoyed in Albania. One of these is Arnaut Kebap which has an exciting historical story. In Turkish and Arabic, "Arnaut" means Albanian. The dish made its way to the Middle East during the 15th century when the Ottoman Empire ruled that part of the world.

Ottoman officers, under sultans, learned to cook this still well loved dish as prisoners in Albania during the reign of Scanderberg, Albania's national hero about whom Nelo has written a vivid biography. To return to the present, one evening at Omar Khayyam's in San Francisco, Nelo was pleasantly surprised when the noted owner and friend George Mardikian prepared a delicious Arnaut Kebap for Nelo and his Army friends from the Presidio of Monterey. And here is the traditional dish.

ARNAUT KEBAP

Cut lamb (minus gristle and fat) into chunks 1½ inches square. Prepare as many skewers as diners. Put a lamb piece on each skewer; after each piece of meat, place a slice of onion, green pepper, tomato and a whole mushroom cap. For a deeper Albanian taste, add fresh green mint next to meat. Repeat until long skewers are filled, ending with meat. Sprinkle with finely crushed oregano. Cook over live coals, basting with a little olive oil, to keep them from drying out, until sizzling brown and aromatic. Or else cook in rotisserie or oven for 25 minutes at 325 F.

For appreciative gourmets, place a bowl of kos (yogurt) before each guest. Nelo says one may use spoons for the yogurt, which is poured over the lamb and vegetable kebaps (kebobs), removed from skewers. But using one's fingers and to enjoy licking them is just as good form with transplanted Albanians today as it was way back during those times when Scanderberg's guerrillas enjoyed their Arnaut Kebap after a victory.

Okra and artichokes fried in olive oil and seasoned with lemon juice, then sprinkled with sour salt crystals and cracked pepper, are excellent go-alongs. The light as air but rich dessert baklava, rolled and baked with a filling of chopped almonds, then drenched with a syrup of honey, sugar and lemon juice, is wonderful. It may be found at the Continental Market on Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey ready for the enjoying.

Now on to another Middle Eastern taste thrill. Drawing on their year's experience in Baghdad, the Walter Jennings recently recreated some Iraqi dishes at a Sunday luncheon in their Carmel Woods home. A special participating guest was Professor Kamil Said, presently chairman of the Arabic Department at DLI, who contributed two delicious main dishes. Other foreign guests included Hussain Al-Doori, Mustafa Ahmad, Mohammad Ali Mohyaldeen from Iraq; Kutayba Al-Ghanim, Mahmoud Al-Ghanim, Nasser Al-Salem and Abdul Al-Naser from Kuwait; Malek Machtoub and Malek Rayess from Lebanon and Fahao Somait from Saudi Arabia. Among those bringing inquisitive palates and assisting on the side were students in Arabic at DLI and the Frederick Duhrings of Carmel. It is due to Mrs. Duhring's resourcefulness that PARTY PLANS is able to produce the following authentic recipes served at this fanfare of fine exotic foods.

PROFESSOR SAID'S GREEN BEAN STEW

(Yakhnit Loubieh)

Two cups cubed meat (lamb or beef) with several bones; shortening; ½ cup chopped onions; 1 tbsp. tomato paste with water to make 1 cup; 1 cup water; 1¼ tsps. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; 3½ cups fresh green string beans, cut in half.

Brown meat and bones until almost cooked in shortening. Add onions, saute until yellow. Add tomato paste, water, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil, add green beans. Turn down heat to low and cook for about one hour until beans have absorbed flavors. Serve this stew over rice. Depending upon appetites, the amount given should serve some 6-8, but for a large buffet prepare three times as much.

Two dishes the Jennings served with the stew, were Eggplant with Sesame Butter and Cracked Wheat Salad.

Talcott Invited To Visit South America

Congressman Burt L. Talcott (California, 12th District) announced last week that he and other members of the international finance subcommittee of the House Committee on Banking and Currency have been invited by the Inter-American Development Bank and the Department of State to inspect the farm economies of several South and Central American countries this month.

Mexico, Colombia, Peru, Chile and Brazil are among the nations on the projected itinerary.

Mr. Talcott indicated that the purpose of the trip would be "to study the need for outside assistance to increase agricultural production in Latin America.

"Such measures as the 'Bread and Butter Corps' plan, which I cosponsored with two of my colleagues, offer the most promising hope of alleviating food shortages in South America and elsewhere throughout the world. Surplus food handouts are not the answer," he said.

"Incorporated in the Food for Freedom Act of 1966 as the Technical Assistance Program, the plan, when funded, will enable American farm experts to share the agricultural skills developed in the United States with farmers in countries which cannot now feed their own populations. Appropriations to implement the program will be considered by the 90th Congress convening in January."

Congressman Talcott explained that he has a dual interest: "I also am a proponent of the Inter-American Development Bank as the most effective means of fostering economic growth in underdeveloped areas of Latin America.

"Instead of continued emphasis on grants and gifts as the main thrust of our foreign aid effort, the United States should place greater reliance on multi-lateral international loans administered by such institutions as the Inter-American Development Bank," Congressman Talcott concluded.

BPWC Invites Public To Hear Sen. Grunsky

The Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club has extended an invitation to Senator Donald L. Grunsky and Assemblyman Alan Pattee to speak at its meeting tonight at the Red Cross chapter house at 7:30 p.m. Invitations have been extended to all of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs on the Peninsula, also to the Salinas club. The guests will have an opportunity not only to hear their legislative representatives, but there also will be a period set aside for questions and answers. Senator Grunsky is our newly elected representative of the state senatorial district. As many people in this area have not met him, an invitation is extended to the public to attend.

George Metteer

Services for A. George Metteer, 48, were held Monday in the chapel at Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland, followed by interment there. Mr. Metteer succumbed to a heart attack November 24 at his home on Ninth between Casanova and Monte Verde streets.

He was a native of Live Oak, where he was born February 22, 1918. Manager of the Kelly Moore Paint Co. here, he had made his home in Monterey for a short time before moving to Carmel with his wife, Marjorie.

In addition to his wife, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Roberta Strutz of Madras, Oregon; a son, Michael Metteer of Hayward; his stepmother, Mrs. Alice T. Metteer of Kingsburg; and two grandchildren.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Mrs. Sletteland

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Tausche Sletteland, until recently a resident of Carmel since 1952, were held Monday in St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church, Carmel Valley, with the Reverend James W. Brock officiating. While she had been under a physician's care, her death on November 22 at her Carmel Valley home was unexpected.

Mrs. Sletteland was born in La Crosse, Wisconsin, on March 11, 1894.

She came to Carmel from Florida with her husband, the late Perry Arthur Sletteland, a retired attorney, who died here in 1959.

Surviving are three sons, Greggar P. Sletteland of Glenview, Illinois, Trygve B. Sletteland of Ridgewood, New Jersey, and Peder J. Sletteland of San Francisco; two daughters, Mrs. Herbert Behring of Chico and Mrs. James Parks of Park Ridge, Illinois; a sister, Mrs. David Gorman of Muskegon, Michigan; and 21 grandchildren.

Private inurnment took place in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mrs. Sletteland may do so to St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church.

Maud Howe

Services for Mrs. Maud Howe, who died Friday evening in a local hospital, were held Tuesday in People's Funeral Home in Hanford, followed by burial in the Hanford Cemetery.

Born in Kings County on May 27, 1886, she was a resident of Carmel for the past six years and had made her home recently with her daughter, Mrs. LuRene Mattson, on Ocean Avenue.

In addition to her daughter, she leaves two sons, Ed and Ceil Howe of Stratford, and six grandchildren.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mrs. Howe may do so to Kings County Society for Crippled Children, Box 578, Hanford.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Woman's Club To Hear Opera Singer

A San Francisco Opera Company soprano, Delcina Stevenson, will appear in concert before the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2 p.m. Winner of first place and the $1,000 James H. Schwabacher Memorial Award in the 1966 San Francisco Opera auditions finals, Miss Stevenson will include in her Carmel program the Aria "Depuis Le Jour" from the opera "Louise" which won her the coveted award. She has recently returned from a concert tour of Alaska, where she appeared in 30 concerts.

Serving as hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. A. B. Wells, Mrs. Henry Kissinger, Mrs. Benjamin E. Carleton and Mrs. W. H. Hastings. At the tea tables will be Miss Marion Eley, Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly, Mrs. Fanchon Freeman and Miss Bessie L. French.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the title of this week's Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Scriptural readings include Matthew's account of Jesus' healing of the insane boy who fell "oft-times . . . into the fire, and oft into the water," and Jesus' admonition to his disciples, "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

A correlative passage from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is this: "Our Master cast out devils (evils) and healed the sick. It should be said of his followers also, that they cast fear and all evil out of themselves and others and heal the sick. God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God. Truth casts out error now as surely as it did nineteen centuries ago."

HIGHEST PAID WRITER

The highest rate ever offered to a writer is $30,000 to Ernest Hemingway (1899-1961) for a 2,000-word article on bullfighting by Sports Illustrated in January, 1960. This amounted to $15 a word.

Before Need Plan prevents hardships

Funeral costs often come when a family's emergency funds have already been spent on hospital and medical bills. A lingering illness may also have caused a loss in family income. You can prevent this hardship by making provisions for funeral expenses before the need arises. A phone call will arrange a private consultation without obligation.

AT DOOLEY GALLERY

"Strawberry Harvest" is one of the paintings by Helen B. Dooley now on display at her gallery on San Carlos Street. Miss Dooley has spent much time, since 1957, sketching field workers from life. She feels they represent a vital segment of California life and exhibit grace and dignity as they harvest crops. As a colorist, the paintings emphasize the color pattern and movement of these people. She plans to complete a series on field workers next Spring.

The December exhibit in the de Saisset Art Gallery at the University of Santa Clara is a juried show of 53 works by members of the Society of Western Artists. Included is a painting by Helen Dooley of Carmel.

A one-man show of the work of Zdenek Rada opened Tuesday in the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association's gallery on Lincoln south of Ocean and will continue through this week.

The preview of the exhibition on Monday evening was attended by Neil Truscott, consul general for Australia in San Francisco. Mr. Rada, a native of Czechoslovakia, is now an Australian citizen.

His work is in the permanent collections of the museums of three Australian cities—Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane. A resident of the Monterey Peninsula for the past three years, Zdenek Rada was awarded a prize in the 1965 MPMA Competitive Show.

Last month his work was included in an exhibition of other Australian modern painters sponsored by the Australian government in San Francisco. After his Carmel show closes, his work will be sent to Mexico City where, at the invitation of the Mexican government, he will have a one-man exhibition, opening on January 31, in the Sala Internacionale of the Bellas Artes.

The fourth annual photographic exhibition of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art opens Monday at the museum's gallery on Lincoln south of Ocean. Included will be work by Ansel Adams, Edgar Bissantz, Arthur Connell, Lilliane de Cock, E. C. Forsyth, Henry Gilpin, John Livingstone, Al Weber, Morley Baer, Wynn Bullock, Steve Crouch, Brooke Elgie, Richard Garrod, Jerry Lebeck, E. C. Modlin, E. L. Whitworth and James Ziegler. MPMA president, Robert Stanton, and the board of directors have issued invitations to a preview of the show on Sunday from 5-8 p.m.

REVIEWER ROZIKA VITARIUS

Rozika Vitarius, who is reviewing art shows for the Pine Cone, was born in Hungary. She obtained a teacher's certificate and license at the Archdeacon's Teacher's Training College in Baja, also studied drawing and painting for two years. Later she lived in Belgium and studied Flemish masterpieces in the museums and churches of Antwerp, Brussels, Ghent, Bruges and Liege. Following World War II, Rozika Vitarius studied clay modeling and sculpture in Paris. She next went to live in Venezuela where she discovered and studied, in museums, the art treasures of ancient Indian civilizations. In 1952, she spent six months in Spain and Italy, then, in 1961, opened a studio in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada. As a member of the Saanich Peninsula Art Center, she contributed to collective exhibitions and was written about in newspaper articles.

A few months ago, this artist moved to the Monterey Peninsula where she purchased a house and is working hard on her sculpture.

Rozika Vitarius says, "I like to write about art and artists—my favorite subjects. I found here the finest manifestation of art and artists who add greatly to the American culture."

As an artist, she has sensibility and knowledge of art and believes these attributes provide a good approach to writing art reviews.

I don't read Izvestia, the Russian newspaper, but an article from it was passed on to me. A Russian gentleman who had lived in the U.S. for 30 years wrote that one thing he considered remarkable about our country was the courtesy and efficiency of women who answer phones in business firms. In Russia, he said, rudeness was the order of the day. Three cheers for our ladies of American business. And, I'd like to add, for all our courteous telephone users.

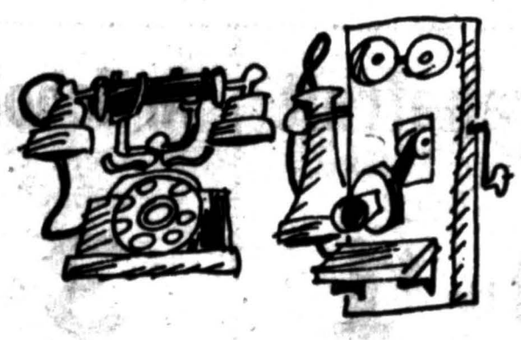
If your decorating dream is to use the antique phone you found in Great Aunt Agatha's attic or the one you found in a local store, the chances are we can hook it up and make it talk for you. We've designed standard operating parts which can be put in many of these decorator phones to assure you good telephone service. Just contact your CARMEL business representative. We'll check your phone and, if the standard parts will fit without modification, we'll install the parts and hook it up. There's a one-time charge of $10, but no extra monthly charge for the decorator phone—only the regular monthly charge for main or extension service.



If the standard parts do not fit your phone, we'll modify it, install the parts and hook it up. In this case, the one-time charge is $25. Although you own and maintain the exterior housing of your decorator phone, we'll continue to maintain the internal telephone parts just as we do with our regular telephones. We have given the dimensions of our standard parts to some manufacturers of "antique" and other decorator phones to help them make phones in which our standard parts will readily fit.

EGGPLANT WITH SESAME BUTTER

(Baba Ghannouj)

Three medium eggplants; 1 cup taheeni (sesame butter available in cans); 1/3 cup lemon juice; 2 tsps. seasoned salt; ½ cup chopped chives; pomegranate seeds; 1 tbsp. olive oil.

Brush eggplants with oil; broil, turning every 10 minutes until skins are dark brown. Cut in halves and scoop out pulp. Beat with and alternately add sesame butter and lemon juice with chives. Arrange pomegranate seeds in rows across top. As a dip, use Arabic bread or small pieces of flour tortillas heated in oven. This is pleasing to every taste and may be served before a meal with aperitifs or with the salad course.

CRACKED WHEAT SALAD

(Saf-soof)

Two cups finely cracked wheat, available in health food stores; 1 cucumber; 3 tomatoes; 1 green pepper; 1 bunch green onions; 1 small bunch parsley; 1 small bunch fresh mint or 2 tbsps. dried; juice of 3 lemons; ½ cup olive oil; 1 tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. ground peppercorns or cracked pepper; romaine lettuce.

Wash and crisp vegetables. Chop finely together in wooden bowl. Place cracked wheat in bowl, cover with cold water and refrigerate for one hour before needed. Combine lemon juice, oil, ground pepper, salt and mix well. Drain cracked wheat and squeeze out water between palms of hands. Add vegetables, dressing and blend. Arrange romaine lettuce leaves around platter and make a mound of salad in center. Amount will serve about 8, depending on size of portions.

A compote of fruits, flaky pastries and Arabic (strong) coffee will top off this temptingly different luncheon to please the most fastidious epicure. PARTY PLANS suggests using the brand new "Flash Thaw" Birds' Eye Mixed Fruit Supreme which is ready to serve in less than 15 minutes. Its superb freshness is unmatched. And so easy!

A splendid source of information on continental dining may be found in "What's Cooking Around the World" put out by the Defense Language Institute's Womens' Club at the Presidio of Monterey. There is also a monthly international cookery class which offers favorite recipes prepared and served by faculty wives to club members.

CANNY COUNSEL by Sagacious Sal

Dear Sal,

I'm lonely. And I met a man through the "lonely hearts club." He wants to marry me. But I don't know very much about him. I own my home, and have a private income. And I can't help wondering if he is more anxious for security than he is for me. Enclosed is a sample of both our handwriting.

A.W.

Dear A. W.,

Emotionally, you and your friend are oceans apart. You use definite head control, and are reserved. And your friend puts on a nice front, but is sly, and smooth, as shown by his writing. In your situation, before becoming more involved, hire a private investigator, and fit in the missing links in his past. Thus far, you have everything to lose and maybe nothing to gain

Dear Sal,

I'm sick of living in a spotless "home." My wife is obsessed with housekeeping. I even have to take off my shoes before I come into the house. And she opens all the windows when I smoke. Enclosed is her handwriting and mine. See if you can understand her. I can't.

J.P.

Dear J.P.,

Generally, people are geared toward the abstract, the practical, and the details in their thinking. But there are many people who think in just one level—much to their disadvantage Your wife is geared toward detail thinking. She has difficulty seeing the whole picture. And her greatest enjoyment is fussing over a house. Her writing is muddled. But the details are precisely correct.

You have it easier than some husbands who live in a totally disorganized environment. But neither extreme is good. A little marriage counseling might convince your wife that it is important to keep you happy too!

NEW MEMBERS OF HIGH TWELVE CLUB

Carmel High Twelve Club has welcomed two new members into the local chapter. Eustace S. Walker, retired manager of United Fruit Company in Cuba, is affiliated with Nineveh Lodge 317 at Nineveh, Indiana. Mr. Walker, whose hobbies are golf and bridge, and his wife, Bell, make their home at Hacienda Carmel.

Kenneth S. Graham and his wife, Virginia, are Pacific Grove residents. Mr. Graham is vice president of United California Bank, Pacific Grove. A member of Compass Lodge 590 of Pomona, Maine, Graham's hobby is golf.

RADIO PROGRAM

"Finding Protection on the Streets" is the title of this week's Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." It will be heard this Sunday over station KGO at 7:30 a.m. It discusses how one can find protection when he has to be out late at night or his business requires going into areas with a high crime rate.

MPC ASK HELP FROM REALTORS

With an eye to assessing local training needs in the real estate profession and planning a spring program of evening courses to meet them, Monterey Peninsula College officials and its real estate advisory committee have issued a call for "expressions of interest."

"We would like to hear from people in the profession who are interested in courses of an 'upgrading' nature," Stephen James, MPC coordinator of technical-vocational education, says.

The present real estate curriculum includes Business 40, Principles of Real Estate; Business 41, Real Estate Practice; Business 42, Legal Aspects of Real Estate; Business 43, Real Estate Finance; and Business 50A, Real Estate Appraisal.

Suggestions may be telephoned to James at the college (375-9821).

REPORTS FROM RLS

Awards Assembly Ends Fall Sports

by Chandler Meloy

The fall sports schedule closes just after Thanksgiving and this year an awards assembly was held to honor the new lettermen and the three successful sports of the fall—soccer, waterpolo and cross country.

Soccer

Soccer, long a standard sport at RLS and now gaining more national prominence due to a television schedule, had both an outstanding varsity and JV squad this year. The varsity, under the direction of Head Coach David Wilson, had a 6-2-1 record, with both losses coming at the hands of traditional rivals York and Woodside, but both were avenged in later games. Highlight of the year, besides defeating the UC frosh team, was the win, in overtime, over Woodside, that brought the "Cup" to RLS for the first time in three years. This trophy is awarded to the team scoring the most goals against the other. Co-Captains were Larry Kuechler and John Englander.

The JV soccer team, with an especially great performance from Hok Yin Leung, had a 6-0-1 record for the year, under the direction of Coach Vincente Bravo from Ecuador.

Lettermen for the teams included: VARSITY—Steve Barlow, Kirk Barr, Robert Ford, John Englander, Steve Covell, Pat Rauber, Bruce Hartzell, Bill Hand, Mike Domenici, Fred Manning, David Basham, Taylor Grant, Larry Kuechler, David Slusser, Kim Wang, Bill Winton, Hok Yin Leung and Gary Bechtel. Manager was Bill Winton.

JVs—David Greb, Dan Giustina, Tom Sullivan, Derik Cotchett, Lloyd Taylor, Scott Bullen, Ken Dillon and Tygh Redfield.

The lightweights will finish their season in January and lettermen will be announced at that time.

Water Polo

Water polo, in its second exciting year at RLS, also saw a winning Varsity taking 5 games and losing only one, plus a scrimmage with San Jose State, a top college team. The JVs, hampered by injuries and a lack of reserves, still had a good 3-3 record for the year. A three-man coaching team, headed by Jim Stam, led the "dunkers." Dick Avila was Varsity coach with Bob Peterson as exercise coach and Jim Stam handling the JVs. Highlight of the season "had to be" the sensational last quarter against Pioneer High as Jim Merritt, with RLS behind four points, dumped through five goals to win the game by one point. In addition to being top scorer, Jim was team captain. Boys who earned their varsity letters in water polo were Jim Merritt, Tim Shea, Bruce Wileman, Jim Booth, John Urist, Jeff H. Smith and Jim Speaks. The JVs, building for next year, included Pete Henderson, Pete Cowden, Bob Howard, David Klein, Tim Thompson, Mario Musto, Dick Millard and David Haynes.

Cross Country

Cross country competitors ended their most successful season with two major wins and the longest undefeated record in C/C history—30 straight dual meets over a two-year span. Highlight of the season was the win at San Rafael where six top prep schools in Northern California competed, with RLS taking first, led by Co-Captains George Dyer and Claude Wynn. George also holds the track record at Monte Vista High. Repeating for the second year, the locals also won the CAA championship. The closest "scare" came against Menlo, traditional rival in so many sports, as RLS won by just one point, with reserve George Saviers coming through for that winning spot. Varsity cross country letters were earned by George Dyer, Claude Wynn, Ken Drummond, Mark Stevenson, Don Hicok and West Clark.

The JV-Reserve team, with a 6-4 record, made the difference as they filled in varsity gaps time and time again. They also repeated as CAA Champs. Earning their letters and the special thanks of the varsity were Howard Hickingbotham, George Saviers, Tom G. Huntington, Bill Rawson, Al Solon, Pat Wu and Jim Costello. Don Stillwell was the team manager.

The Letterman's Club composed of eight outstanding athletes, was increased as six new inductees were added during the program — Ken Drummond, Jim Booth, Bruce Wileman, Robbie Ford, Fred Manning and Steve Covell.

Awards Assembly

The special awards assembly, held in the Erdman Memorial Chapel, was presided over by Pat Rauber, representing the Letterman's Club. Headmaster Robert U. Ricklefs, in addressing the assembly, praised the individual coaches and the athletic department, under the direction of Dick Zury, for the outstanding showing made by the teams during the year.

The major sport in the winter months is basketball, coached by Dick Zury and Cdmr. Kinion, with minor sports being skiing under the sponsorship of Ed Brown, riding directed by the Costello family and Norm Ellis, lightweight soccer with Mr. Bravo, plus winter standbys of steeplechase, golf, tennis, bike riding, and shooting.

Win or lose, however, the sports program at RLS is designed to give young men a balance in life and teach them sportsmanship. Herbert Hoover expressed it this way: "The rigid volunteer rules of right and wrong in sports, are second only to religious faith in moral training. . . ."

A code we honor.

RLS SPONSORS CLUB TO HOLD MINI-BAZAAR

The Sponsors Club of Robert Louis Stevenson School will hold its meeting on Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the school's Pebble Beach campus.

The meeting will feature a "Mini-Bazaar," a preview of the annual bazaar which will be held in the Spring. A number of articles will be for sale, including handknit sweaters, shell blouses and dresses. Several antique decoy ducks, restored by members of the organization, will be available, as well as numerous other gift items and Christmas decorations. Guests are welcome at the meeting.

Woe, Woe, Woe And More Woe

All is not well up on the hill judging from articles written by Carmel High students and published on November 18 in the school's newspaper, The Sandpiper.

Page One stories reveal: (1) Students are dissatisfied with the cold lunch food provided by vending machines and want to return to the hot lunch cafeteria program. (2) The faculty member who was songleader and cheerleader sponsor resigned. Girls involved stated that their sponsor did not "get along with them at all." (3) A panel discussion on "Books, Bottles, Sex and Hotrods" was ineffective. (4) Missing from a cash box were $112 worth of Sadie Hawkins Dance tickets and $20 in cash.

Page Two articles lament trash littering the high school campus; brutal treatment of a seagull by a group of boys; and the fact that Carmel taxpayers have deserted a "crumbling high school."

Page Three berates teenage drivers of automobiles, the majority of which "is incapable of handling" an automobile.

Page Four tells tales of Carmel High's Varsity defeat by archrival Pacific Grove in the annual Veterans Day game; the frosh team's defeat by P.G., too; and about a "hobbled halfback" who, after receiving treatment for a battered ankle, had to walk home from the hospital with his foot in a cast and clad only in his underwear and a blanket.

It appears to be woe, woe, woe and more woe upon the hill these days, judging by the November 18 issue of The Sandpiper.

Next Symphony Concert Tuesday At Sunset Center

Concert-goers will have an opportunity to hear a varied musical program on Tuesday evening when the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra presents its second concert of the season in Sunset Center auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

The 80-member orchestra, under the direction of conductor John Gosling, will feature the Woodwind Ensemble playing Mozart's "Serenade in C Minor," with Melvin Buffo and Barry Fader on oboe, Mary Largent and Robert Lee playing clarinet, Coral Cope and Cathleen Warfield, both bassoonists, and Carlberg Jones plus Dale Harrison on the French horns.

Then the spotlight will swing to mezzo-soprano Claudine Carlson, singing the aria "Abscheulicher, wo eilst du hin?" from the opera "Fidelio" by Beethoven. Born in France, she has just completed a comprehensive concert tour stretching from Turkey to Italy, including many appearances throughout the United States with a recital at Carnegie Hall.

Musical honors will be shared by the Concert Choirs of Santa Catalina School for Girls presenting Debussy's "The Blessed Damozel." Carmel area vocalists participating will include Kate Branson, Kathryn Harder, Carolyn Layton, Joey Johnson, Claudia Jones and Melissa Lofton, also Pebble Beach choir members Joan Carpenter, Sandra Clark, Barbara Dirickson, Bridget Hildebrand and Kris Scherer.

Henry Shweid of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra is serving as guest concertmaster of the program that highlights "Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Op. 43" by Sibelius. An accomplished violinist, Mr. Shweid is a member of the music faculty at Dominican College.

Ticket information is available at the Monterey County Symphony Association office in Sunset Center (624-4125), or by writing Box 3851, Carmel.

SIERRA CLUB OPEN MEETING ON PARK

Del Monte Properties Company, owner of the long ridge east of Jack's Peak, has proposed a private park for the area. About 800 acres are involved. Primary use would be hiking, horseback riding and picnicking.

E. A. Shattuck, head of planning and construction for Del Monte, will explain plans for this park at the December meeting of the conservation committee of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club.

The public is invited to the meeting which will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Room 24, Carmel High School.

American Farmer

property and economic efforts of others.

"American agriculture is the great secret weapon which could be used to win the cold war in very short order. But there is a conspiracy of silence concerning the heroic performance of the American farmer in the world today. The only explanation could be that the socialists in Washington are more concerned about not offending the socialist brethren abroad than they are in solving the problem of undernourishment in so many areas of the world. The American farmer stands as the bulwark of individualism — what the demogogues like to call right wing extremism.

"A massive effort by teams of American farmers, American agricultural scientists, producers of American agricultural implements in a few short years could teach the backward peoples of the earth to produce food in such volume that starvation or even undernourishment could become a forgotten thing of the past. But this would be in direct collision with socialist propaganda. Moreover, socialist fallacies in respect to transportation and marketing could prevent supplies of food reaching the hungry.

"Let's wrap this up with just one set of extremely significant statistics. In 1820, 71.8% of America's working force was engaged in farm work; in 1960, 10.3%. To state the statistics on a somewhat different basis, in 1820, 21.5% of the total population was engaged in agricultural production; in 1960, only 3.9% of our total population was engaged in producing not only the food requirements for our entire country but also a substantial surplus for export.

TRANSPORTATION

"Transportation — in which the Americans lead—is another modern phenomenon. By jet today, it is physically possible—assuming the availability of airports—to go from any point on the face of the earth to any other point in approximately a 24-hour period, i.e., just one day. In the 1920's, it was a 3½ day trip from San Francisco to New York by the fastest means then available—our crack trains.

"Jumbo cargo and passenger ships of the sub-sonic category are coming rapidly. The supersonic plane with speeds of some 1800 miles per hour will be next in the procession. When we accomplished the soft landing of a guided missile on the moon, we may have obsoleted the supersonic plane.

"The capital sums that this program will require of the American airline industry is staggering. But if the airline industry is allowed to flourish and enjoy prosperity, it will be accomplished—and without operating subsidies to the trunk airlines. The future supersonic planes now carry a price tag of about $35 million per copy—by the time delivery takes place in the 1970's this price tag will may be $50 million per copy.

COMMUNICATIONS

"Communications are moving ahead at an equally rapid—although in some respects less spectacular—pace. Telephone service with direct dialing to many overseas areas is not very far ahead. Think what it will mean to be able to telephone friends in Europe with no more effort than is required for a domestic call, and no more expense than was involved in a transcontinental call a few years ago. Telstar has offered the one spectacular in recent communications development. If the trash can be eliminated from TV, when international TV programs become common, think what that will do in promoting international understanding and bringing the peoples of the world ever closer together.

"Despite the sordid picture in many governmental areas the world around, this old globe of ours is sparkling with more opportunities for the individual than ever before in history."

Symphony Guild Raises $2,942

On Tuesday at a preview coffee, members of the Peninsula chapter of the Monterey County Symphony Guild heard John Gosling, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, describe music which will be played at the second concert of the orchestra's season on Tuesday evening. During the meeting, Mrs. Allman Cook, treasurer, reported on the proceeds of the recent Symphonie d'Elegance and Domino Tournament, both guild fund raising events. Gross income from the Domino Tournament totalled $1,465 with expenses amounting to $250—net proceeds $1,215. The Symphonie d'Elegance grossed $2,628 with expenses of $900.37—net $1,727.63.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

It would seem that Mary Renault might well take more time to research her next book, not that she does not know her area and her times, but that somewhere she could find better meat for her story. THE MASK OF APOLLO tells the life of an actor in the days when male actors played the women's roles, raising their voices to a higher range to enhance the illusion. Masks were worn, the wooden faces carved with infinite care, the back being covered with cloth to which hair was attached. Small wars harassed the rulers of the city-states and the mortality rate was high for rulers caught on the losing side of any war. Our hero, an actor named Niko, skips over the pages, expertly avoiding participating in any battles, carrying letters to and fro, and embroiling himself in various homosexual entanglements. This one is not in the same class as THE LAST OF THE WINE or THE KING MUST DIE.

The game of dominoes is staging a comeback. Comes now a book by Dominic Armanino which gives not only the official rules but also various other versions of the game. It is entitled DOMINOES, which is about as concise a covering of the subject as anyone could desire.

The father of Robert E. Lee was a dashing soldier named Light-Horse Harry Lee. He was an officer in Washington's army, a Governor of Virginia, a member of the House of Representatives and, at Washingtons' funeral, he was the man who said that Washington was "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." Noel Gerson wrote the biography of him and entitled it LIGHT-HORSE HARRY.

Sidney Margolus tells us that "in the final analysis, getting on a sound financial basis that will enable you to move toward your main goals is largely a do-it-yourself project." His new book entitled HOW TO MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR MONEY has a tempting sound. In it he discusses the most prevalent money problems, credit at the lowest cost, wild food bills, insurance, and medical care. This could be the book most likely to succeed in making you free of money worries actually, not just in your dreams.

Quincy Howe, Jr., has translated and edited several of the sermons of St. Augustine and the work has been published under the title SELECTED SERMONS OF ST. AUGUSTINE. They are said to be "major religious texts that have particular relevance for our time." They have been divided under several main classifications and the index lists the reference from the Bible upon which each sermon is based.

One of the funniest books in years is A SHORT WALK ON THE CAMPUS by Jonathan Aitken and Michael Beloff. These two young men came to the United States from England with the idea of looking over American colleges. They did it and this book is so well worth reading that words fail us to describe how well-worth it is. It is delightfully funny and after reading if you may decide that all this furor about sex on the campus and the drugs on the campus and all these other disturbing on the campus things are really not so bad after all.

There are three new mysteries this week and one of them is the new Rex Stout the title of which is DEATH OF A DOXIE. It's a good one ! ! !

LITTLE HOUSES WITH STYLE

LIVE RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF TOWN in an adorable little Early American miniature, very well built, not very old, sunny bedroom, nice living room, charming kitchen, and only $25,000. (Brook in the back yard, too.)

HOW ABOUT A ROMAN SWIMMING POOL in your front yard and a miniature Villa with one beautiful bedroom overlooking same, all set in a delightful garden behind a nice, safe, high wall—on Carmel Point?

TO LIFT YOU OUT OF A RUT, why not walk right through an oak tree to get to your front door? And then enjoy the fabulous oaks from INSIDE through floor to ceiling glass of a really special contemporary Mediterranean. Actually 3 bedrooms, but they're small. $49,500.

OR A BROOK RUNNING THROUGH YOUR LIVING ROOM? Rock-walled contemporary with the most delightful special features. Wonderful mountain-view bedroom for you, a complete dark room, and a studio (where you could sleep an extra guest if you've a mind to). This one's in Carmel Valley in the sunshine, very handy walking distance to store, shops, and church.

FALL IN LOVE WITH AN AUSTRIAN chalet near the beach, fireplace in the center of the living room, gourmet kitchen for your puttering fun (and a brick countered bar). True, there's an extra bedroom, but it's way off at the other end of the house. This house will take elegant furinture, or informal decoration, but you'll love it!

A LITTLE HOUSE with real Carmel charm, two bedrooms and TWO baths, just South of Sunset School, on a very pretty 60 ft. lot. It's very personable and it's only $22,500.

You would hate to have to leave this lovely home one block from Carmel's famous beach, and the owner does, too. But he has a good reason for leaving, and if you have a good reason to own a new Carmel home ,then let us get together and change owners. Financing should not be a problem if you have a fairly good down payment. Owner will take back trust deed at 6½%. No penalties. Four bedrooms, three baths, double lot, lovely terraced garden. Spanish style with very modern interior. This home is priced in the low Eighties. Will consider offer on price and down payment.

Real Estate

SIMPLICITY OF LIVING: A convenient corner location for a three-bedroom (or two bedrooms and a study) contemporary rustic home with a lanai-dining room and sheltered patio. Easy-to maintain garden and a distant view of Point Lobos are other assets. Walking distance to the beach and Village simplifies the problem of transportation.

TRANQUILITY: With sunshine filtering through the live oaks and pines into a cozy patio-entry, this nearly-new house invites the lover of peace and quiet in an area of little traffic. Situated on Palou Avenue, among many attractive homes, this one features lavish use of brick, heavy shakes and many custom interior details. Two bedrooms, two baths, dining room, living room with beamed ceiling, and kitchen with built-in units including a refrigerator.

BEAUTY: From every angle, both inside and outside, this choice residential property with its Comstock-built post adobe home has an outlook that is superb . . . a spectacular view from Point Lobos to the Valley Hills. Surrounded by a multitude of valuable trees and shrubs, the house reflects good design, excellent construction and meticulous maintainance by its original owners. Living room with driftwood rustic walls and chalkrock hearth, large family room with copper-hooded fireplace, kitchen with hobby area, two bedrooms, three baths, two-car garage with heated floor, unusually large storage areas, and a heated green house for orchids. Part of the property may be sold as a building site.

PRIVACY: Situated on a sunny knoll overlooking the Carmel Mission, this charming home features a special courtyard for relaxing and appreciating the expansive view. With unimproved property on either side, one is free from close neighbors and noise of traffic. A delightful living room with dark random-width oak floors, wide sills and a double view; two bedrooms, two baths, a small study and a kitchen with dining corner. In immaculate condition, this property is a pleasure to show.

RECREATION: Across from a golf course, this comfortable home can be purchased with $5,000 cash and assumption of the existing loan with the seller carrying a second trust deed. Four bedrooms (or three and a den), two baths, a kitchen with built-in equipment, living room with fireplace, two-car attached garage . . . site area nearly 1/4 acre. Price reduced to $38,500.

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

One of the most interesting groups of stocks this past month have been the Saving & Loans. First Charter Financial, for instance, declined from its high of 69 several years ago to a low of just under 10. Then the Dow Jones Average rose from its low of about 740 to just over 800, or not quite ten percent. In this same period, First Charter rose from about 10 to 15 for a 50% rise.

New loans to the building industry, particularly homes, is the main source of income for these stocks. So, it is interesting that the stocks should have such a substantial rise in the face of the news that new construction figures were down for the seventh month in a row in October, also that while interest rates don't seem to be going higher they aren't going lower yet, either. Could it be that some long term investors have decided that it is just a matter of time till California's new home building starts again and the time to buy these stocks is now while they are down?

When the building boom starts again and the good news is in print, these stocks may be back up again and it may be too late to get the bargain prices. Irving Lundborg has (and I'm sure that goes for the other local stock brokers) a very interesting write-up on both First Charter Financial and Great Western Financial.

The question everyone in the stock and bond business is wondering about is—whether the business news is going to look bad enough to keep the huge institutional cash on the sidelines if the Dow Jones Industrials get close to that 740 level?

Corporate earnings look good for the first half of 1967 but the second half is clouded by the potential strikes, Viet Nam, trend of interest rates, trend of car sales, and continued lull in construction. If the analysts can't see some rays of hope for improvement in these areas, the stock market is very likely to discount bad news. As Clark Dodge puts it in their November 28, 1966 morning wire, "And on the theory that the market does look six months ahead, the second half of 1967 is already a matter of concern."

Stock market dips are opportunities to buy. Saving & Loan and bank stocks might be good bargains to accumulate. In this writer's opinion if a Saving & Loan is a good place for your money, so is a Saving & Loan stock.

(Hugh Hannon is with Irving Lundborg & Co. in Carmel.)

Override Tax

Dr. Robert Newton, stated that the people of the Carmel district will "have to wake up" as regards an override. He emphasized that taxpayers of the Carmel district have only been asked for one such tax increase since World War II and that was in 1958.

"They have to realize our schools are supported locally." Federal and state support is not forthcoming to any appreciable degree, he pointed out.

"We have to have some added source of income or the educational system will deteriorate," Neill concluded.

"I need to know now," Dr. Harris stressed in asking for action on an override in two weeks' time. If more funds are not available next year he will have to plan for larger class sizes and less teachers, he stated and indicated that planning for the 1967-68 academic year must be done in the coming months—"I can't do it next summer.

"I would hate to be denied the opportunity to plan a good program for the district because of lack of financial knowledge," he declared. Following is the statement on the financial needs of the Carmel Unified School District which Dr. Harris presented to the board last night.

"Upon assuming the superintendency of the Carmel Unified School District less than four months ago, it was immediately apparent that the district was involved in a serious financial crisis. The extent of the impact of the loss of the April, 1966, tax override election needed to be studied in great detail. Consequently, a series of evaluations covering all aspects of the district's operation was instituted.

"These studies are completed with the exception of refining certain portions of the data. The needs of the district were projected for a five-year period excluding certain pieces of instructional equipment which were projected for a one-year period.

"Our data, at this time, reveals that the district can produce a relatively strong instructional program on the monies which can be realized on a tax increase ranging from 45 cents to 35 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation. Within the next few days a more precise figure can be calculated.

"It is my understanding that the board, in asking for a 70 cent tax increase last April, never intended to levy the full amount until needs dictated such a move. It is my contention that the district can operate effectively for the next five years levying a lesser amount. The rate of growth in assessed valuation over the next five years was calculated in determining the financial needs of the district.

"Since our major instructional equipment needs are projected for only a one-year period, it is anticipated that funds may be forthcoming to assist in this area from such sources as the Carmel Schools Trust, federal and state grants, and general financial support resulting from new state legislation. Even with the change in leadership at the state level, it does not look promising for the district to receive much additional financial support from the state. Historically, we have received a five dollar per pupil increase in state support since shortly after the end of World War II.

"With all this in mind, it is recommended that the board, after reviewing the completed needs study, consider, at the December 14 regular meeting, the feasibility of calling for a tax override election. To go into another year under the same financial arrangement would seriously damage the existing educational program and would restrict us from solving some of the pressing educational problems which are crying for a solution."

While developing his trout farm and working with his father, Cole Weston, in his own right, gained national acclaim as a photographer. His picture stories, seascapes and portraits were published in Life, Holiday, Look, Modern Photography, Reader's Digest and other noted publications. Most recently, his photographs were among those included in the Sierra Club's book on the Sur Coast, "Not Man Apart."

As an avocation, Cole Weston, worked in the theatre. He joined the Forest Theater Guild in 1948 and acted as director for this group from 1951 to 1958.

During this period, he led the construction of the Theater-in-the-Ground under the Forest Theater stage and in this indoor facility directed plays, as well as directing other productions on the outdoor stage of the city-owned theatre. Subsequently, he directed musicals at the Wharf Theatre in Monterey and at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School. Most recently, he directed "Pipe Dream," produced in Sunset Center auditorium as part of Carmel's golden anniversary celebration.

This past year, Cole Weston has acted as stage manager at Sunset Center for the Carmel Bach Festival, the Monterey County Symphony and the Carmel Musical Society.

As manager of Sunset Center, he will work with the Sunset Commission and City Administrator Hugh Bayless. His salary will be $674 a month.

Ambulance Calls

The Red Cross Ambulance, operated by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, was called to the residence of Mrs. Louise Dewey, Carmelo between 13th and Santa Lucia, yesterday at 11:19 a.m. Mrs. Dewey, widow of the late Hartley G. Dewey, M.D., is reported to have suffered a stroke. She was transported to Community Hospital, later transferred to Monterey Hospital, where her condition this morning was listed as critical.

At 10:14 this morning, the ambulance responded to a medical emergency call from the residence of Patrick Parsons, Oliver Road in Mission Fields, who was transported to Community Hospital, where he was treated and released to the care of his physician.
